

Resource Guide for Rural Workforce Development

June 10, 2021

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has published a Resource Guide for Rural Workforce Development to help rural community leaders start and expand employment opportunities and access resources to train, recruit and create a sustainable rural workforce.

The guide outlines programs and services available at USDA and other federal agencies that support workforce development in rural communities. It will help community leaders access resources more easily to create jobs, train talent, expand educational opportunities and provide technical assistance.
