

Advocacy Guide for Municipal Officials

December 15, 2020

Local officials can advocate effectively on behalf of their municipalities during the COVID-19 pandemic. Affecting policy is a vital endeavor and is only successful when citizens are involved.

The legislature began meeting remotely in March 2020 and will continue to do so for at least the beginning of the 2021 legislative session.

The Advocacy Guide for Municipal Officials highlights changes the state legislature made to move to remote operations and explains how your advocacy efforts need to change to adapt to this new environment.
