What is the USDA's Community Facilities Program?

Community Facilities (CF) is a flexible funding program from USDA's Office of Rural Development. The program provides grants and low-interest loans to communities with a population of under 20,000 residents for the purchase, construction, or improvement of essential community facilities.

Grant funds are provided on a graduated scale with smaller communities with the lowest median household income being eligible for projects with a higher proportion of grant funds. If your rural community needs funding for any of the following (but not limited to) projects, then this program may be for you!

- Public Safety Services – Fire departments, police stations, prisons, emergency response vehicles, or public works vehicles/equipment
- Utility Services – Telemedicine or distance learning equipment
- Healthcare Facilities – Hospitals, medical clinics, dental clinics, nursing homes, or assisted living facilities
- Public Facilities – Town halls, town garages, public works facilities, courthouses, airport hangars, or street improvements

Find Grant Writing or Grant/Project Management Help for Other Programs

VLCT published a resource, Increasing Municipal Capacity for Grants, that offers ideas for assistance with grant writing and grant management. Many of the capacity builders also provide project management services. Hiring experienced project management assistance can increase the speed of project development and help avoid cost, permitting, and other development surprises.
