Town Fair 2012

Though the day began and ended with rain, this year’s Town Fair – held at the Robert E. Miller Expo Centre (right) at the Champlain Valley Fairgrounds in Essex Junction, Vermont – weathered the storm. Indeed, nearly 100 vendors and more than 450 attendees deemed it a tremendous success. Featured at the Fair were 12 training sessions, a forum for Vermont’s major party gubernatorial candidates, health screenings and flu shots, a safety-oriented “ride and drive” for municipal vehicle operators, three VLCT Trust annual business meetings, as well as VLCT’s annual meeting where, after a lively discussion, the 2013 Municipal Policy was approved. When not attending a workshop or recovering from an inoculation event, fairgoers could tour the tradeshow floor, (continued on page 14)

IRS Governmental Bond Compliance Initiative

The Internal Revenue Service has embarked on a nationwide program designed to test the degree to which local units of government comply with the provision of the Internal Revenue Code relating to the issuance of tax-exempt obligations including traditional bonds, but also on short-term obligations and capital financing leases. Initial notices of examination usually take the form of an information request or a questionnaire. The questionnaires focus on determining whether the issues were for either “private activity” or “arbitrage” purposes, either (continued on page 13)

THE MUNICIPAL PUBLIC RECORDS REQUEST SURVEY

On September 28, the legislature’s Public Records Study Committee met at the State House to discuss a number of issues relevant to its charge of “review[ing] the requirements of the public records act and the numerous exemptions to that act in order to assure the integrity, viability, and the ultimate purposes of the act.” The committee reviewed at length the responses to a survey issued by the Secretary of State’s office – and designed with input from VLCT – to municipalities and school superintendents concerning public records requests. The goal of the survey’s eight questions was to gather data on possible or necessary changes to state statute on the issue of public records requests. Out of 309 surveys issued (245 municipalities and 64 school superintendents), the state received only 107 responses, a response rate of 35 percent.

The first question on the survey asked: “To the best of your knowledge, how many requests to inspect public records did your office receive in calendar years 2008-2011?” Answers varied from 0 to 1,348 requests per year. Brian Leven, Deputy Secretary of State, noted that the high end response of 1,348 was provided by a very small town, which prompted several legislators to inquire if municipal officials even knew what a public record request is.

The second question asked: “Is it your opinion that your office has recently experienced an increase in the number of requests to inspect public records?” Only 18 respondents (16.8 percent) replied in the affirmative.

And question six asked: “Have requests to inspect records posed any administrative burden on your municipality?” Only 22 respondents, or about 20 percent, said that they had. Committee members concluded that public records requests were not currently an undue burden on municipalities, which seems to contrasts to the number of complaints VLCT has received over the last few years about the number of records requests filed under the Public Records Law provided under 1 V.S.A. §315. The accuracy of this survey can be questioned, given the very low response rate and the lack of a decent representative sample of all towns and cities in Vermont.

Given the aforementioned issues, it is incumbent on municipalities to answer surveys concerning public records issues (and others), as they have a very real impact on the actions legislators may take and the bills they may write during the legislative session. VLCT encourages all municipal officials to respond to such information gathering requests in the future.

Can a municipal fire department bill for services incurred in response to a hazardous substance spill?

Yes. A self-executing provision of Vermont law (20 V.S.A. § 39(e)) provides that “any political subdivision, including any municipality, fire district, emergency medical service, or incorporated village, is authorized to recover any and all reasonable direct expenses incurred as a result of the response to and recovery of a hazardous chemical or substance incident from the person or persons responsible for the incident.” If the entity responsible for the spill refuses to pay the bill, the municipality “shall be awarded costs and reasonable attorney fees that are incurred as a result” of pursuing payment.

Who may be present in executive session?

The public body entering executive session and anyone else they want to bring into it. Executive session is a privilege granted under Vermont’s Open Meeting Law which allows public bodies to enter into private session to discuss public business. This privilege allows public bodies to deviate from the general rule that public business be conducted during the course of open sessions. An executive session may only be entered under statutorily prescribed circumstances. The Vermont Supreme Court will construe the Open Meeting Law liberally in furtherance of the public’s right to access.

The motion to enter into executive session must state the nature of the business to be discussed, it must pass by a majority of the membership of the public body, and the result of the vote must be recorded in the minutes. No other matter may be discussed in executive session and no binding votes or Can a municipality regulate the location of onsite water supply and septic systems?

Yes, but with limitations. On July 1, 2007, the State of Vermont took permit jurisdiction from municipalities over onsite water supply and septic systems. Any existing ordinances or bylaws that contained technical standards and criteria for the design, construction, operation, and maintenance of systems were and continue to be preempted by the Department of Environmental Conservation’s (DEC) Wastewater System and Potable Water Supply Rules (“the Rules”).

Even though municipal regulation is limited by state law – 10 V.S.A. § 1976(b) and 24 V.S.A. § 4414(13) – the Rules provide that a municipality can still adopt standards that regulate development generally. According to § 1-501(a)(1) “Municipalities may continue to have ordinances and/or bylaws that are not specifically regulating potable water supplies and/or wastewater systems, but rather regulating development in general, (ex: setbacks).” To help explain its jurisdiction, DEC also issued Guidance Document #2007-01, Universal Jurisdiction’s Impact on Town Authority over Water and Wastewater after July 1, 2007, which states that “[a] town may adopt a local ordinance [and/or bylaw] that prohibits all types of construction in an area. This prohibition may prevent the installation of a water or wastewater system.” Standards prohibiting the location of buildings, driveways, accessory structures, and other types of development could encompass a prohibition on the installation of an onsite septic within that regulating setback, buffer area, or even require that all development be conducted within a specified building envelope.

Another option for a municipality to regulate and enforce water and wastewater systems is to obtain delegation from the state (see www.anr.state.vt.us/dec/www/mundeleg.htm) and administer the state program locally in compliance with the state’s Rules. 10 V.S.A. § 1976.

Save the Date: Onsite septic and water system permitting and delegation will be a topic at the December 5, 2012, Fall Planning and Zoning Forum in Montpelier. Please visit the VLCT Event Calendar at www.vlct.org/events-news-blogs/event-calendar for more information.

match for approved projects. Under the new ERAF rule, which went into effect on October 23, 2012, municipalities have 24 months to adopt additional flood hazard mitigation measures to maintain the state cost share for FEMA Public Assistance grants. Municipalities that adopt higher standards can achieve a higher percentage of state funding for post-disaster repair projects – from 12.5 percent to 17.5 percent. Municipalities that adopt the standard set of hazard mitigation measures will continue to receive state funds to cover half of the required non-federal match, or 12.5 percent. Municipalities that have not adopted the basic set of measures will see a decrease in the state match, from 12.5 percent to 7.5 percent. Thus, the state contribution toward the local match requirement will vary from 7.5 percent to 17.5 percent of the total project costs, depending upon the level of adoption of recommended mitigation measures.

Why Change the Rule?

According to state officials, implementation of the new rule will result in long-term savings to both the state and to municipalities. After a natural disaster, many municipalities fail to implement much needed flood hazard mitigation measures that would minimize or eliminate future damages when rebuilding or repairing roads, bridges, culverts, and public buildings. Consequently, the municipality increases its exposure to future flooding, which may result in recurring and higher repair and maintenance costs. The intent of the mitigation measures required by the new ERAF rule is to minimize economic losses during floods by improving local resilience to future flooding. Additional advantages may include enhanced public safety, floodplain and river corridor protection, and improved water quality.

New ERAF Rule Provisions

Municipalities have 24 months to adopt four basic measures to ensure that the state matching funds for the non-federal share remain at 50 percent (or 12.5 percent of the project cost):

- adopt the most recent Agency of Transportation Town Roads and Bridge Standards contained in “The Orange Book” (a.k.a. the Handbook for Local Officials), which you can find at http://www.aot.state.vt.us/ops/documents/aot-ops_OrangeBook.pdf;
- adopt or take steps towards the adoption of a flood hazard bylaw adequate enough to secure participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP);
- adopt a local Hazard Mitigation Plan; and,
- adopt a local Emergency Operations Plan.

When the new ERAF rule becomes effective in 24 months, municipalities can qualify for an increased state match of 70 percent for the non-federal share (or 17.5 percent of the total project cost) by either:

- maintaining an active rate classification under FEMA’s NFIP Community Rating System (CRS) that includes activities that prohibit new structures in mapped flood hazard zones; or,
- adopt a river corridor protection bylaw that meets or exceeds state model regulations and guidelines.

For example, a town has a FEMA approved Public Assistance project that costs $100,000. (continued on next page)
NEW ERAF RULE

Scenario 1:
The town has adopted the four basic mitigation measures and has adopted a river corridor protection bylaw that meets the state model guidelines.
Federal share = $75,000
State share = $17,500
Town share = $7,500

Scenario 2:
The town has adopted the four basic mitigation measures but has not adopted additional mitigation measures for the increased state match.
Federal share = $75,000
State share = $12,500
Town share = $12,500

Scenario 3:
The town has not adopted the four basic mitigation measures.
Federal share = $75,000
State share = $7,500
Town share = $17,500

One significant advantage of PACIF membership is the ability to tap into the accumulated wisdom of VLCT staff members. This means you don’t need to “go it alone,” especially when you’re ready to identify and solve worksite safety and health hazards.

If your municipality hasn’t already been focusing on promoting safety and health, why start now? For one thing, VOSHA inspectors can target your municipality for an inspection at any time, and being prepared or correcting a significant problem assiduously – or both – might help mitigate the fines your municipality can incur if cited for not complying with regulations. Another reason is that unsafe practices could be keeping your workers’ compensation and liability coverage costs unnecessarily high.

“VLCT and VOSHA have the same objective: protecting employees in the workplace,” says Fred Satink, VLCT’s Loss Control Specialist, “except that instead of imposing penalties, we support PACIF members first in seeing where improvements can be made and then in implementing solutions.” Fred speaks from experience, because he worked for VOSHA for nearly nine years, including time as a Health Compliance Officer and as an Industrial Hygiene Engineer. He can offer perspectives to help shape a member’s responses to VOSHA citations, and he is always inclined to guide members to extend application of the principles behind particular citations to areas that might have escaped the VOSHA inspector’s notice. “No single inspector will catch every possible violation,” says Fred, “but once an issue has been raised, it is best to deal with it throughout the organization, so the same problem won’t crop up again.”

A comprehensive VOSHA inspection has five main steps: on-site inspection; closing conference; formal citations; employer’s response to citations, which can include an informal conference; and payment of final fees. After one of PACIF’s larger members was recently inspected, it began addressing the issues discussed in the closing conference before VOSHA even sent the formal citations. “It is a credit to the city that they addressed significant compliance problems quickly and comprehensively” said Fred. “I welcome the opportunity to support and guide them through the entire process.” For example, if a member receives a citation, PACIF Loss Control staff will not just recommend a course of action to solve the cited problem, but also offer further guidance on how to work with VO-SHA effectively and show good faith effort during an informal conference to improve their chances of negotiating modifications to their citations and penalties.

Fall is the season of renewal for school, work and … INSURANCE!

Now is the ideal time to prepare for year-end insurance renewals because reviewing your coverages and considering how to position your municipality for the best possible outcome deserves time and careful attention.

VLCT’s three Trusts offer municipality-focused products and services that provide the best value proposition for Vermont local governments. Invite your Member Relations representative or a member of VLCT’s Loss Control or Underwriting team to your next meeting to explain ways you can optimize your spending and put the League’s vast array of Risk Management resources to work for your municipality.

Employers who have already established a strong culture of safety and health in their workplace are at a distinct advantage when undergoing a VOSHA inspection. Having implemented safety-minded policies shows an earnest effort to comply with regulations. And when penalty fees are calculated, having a formal, effective safety and health program generally qualifies the employer for an automatic 25 percent reduction. Even a partial program may qualify for some penalty reductions.

PACIF’s Loss Control Consultants are accessible as well as helpful and ready to offer guidance, perspective, assistance, and training. Their advice is founded in real-life experience and tailored to each member’s particular circumstances. PACIF staff are actively encouraged to provide whatever level of service is needed to control losses and serve our members. That is part of the VLCT mission, and it helps keep this municipal risk sharing pool strong and effective.

UI Trust Updates

UI Trust is Strong for 2013

The VLCT Unemployment Insurance (UI) Trust is happy to announce that it is having a strong 2012. Trust-wide, claims are down roughly 36 percent compared to this time last year. This continues the improving claims trend shown in 2011, which, combined with the fact that the Trust bases its financial decisions on the potential for a worst-case situation occurring in any year, contributes to two encouraging results:

- Overall costs for 2013 are remaining stable—the same average 1.9 percent of payroll as for 2012.
- The Board of Directors voted to return $287,250 to members as contribution credits.

To understand how good this news is, you’ll recall that last year’s total UI Trust contribution credits were only $50,000 (less than one-fifth of this year’s), and for the previous two years there was simply not enough surplus for any credits to be issued at all. It is important to note that actual rates and credits vary from one member to the next: each member’s current payroll and unique UI claims history affect both their 2013 contribution and the credit they will receive toward that contribution.

By mid-November, current UI Trust members will receive their 2013 statements and initial invoices for the 2013 renewal. If you have any questions about the above information or your 2013 renewal statements, or to receive a quote for new membership, please email Kelley Avery at kavery@vlct.org or call her at VLCT at 800-649-7915, ext. 1965.

New UI Consultant and Branding at TALX Corporation

Two adjustments are taking place at TALX Corporation, the company that has administered unemployment claims for the UI Trust for several years. Having become a subsidiary of Equifax more than five years ago, TALX is changing its name to Equifax Workforce Solutions. We expect to notice a difference only in email addresses (which have changed from @talx.com to @equifax.com), but we’ll be sure to notify you of any future changes.

In a coincidental development, we bid adieu to Afshan Mughal, who worked at TALX for years and served our members well in matters relating to state requests for unemployment information. Jennifer Clapsaddle is our new Unemployment Insurance Consultant (UIC). She will be working with UI Trust members on all unemployment claims separation and information requests from the state. Jennifer’s contact information is listed in the box at the left so members can update their records right away.

PACIF Members with Volunteer Fire Departments

We are eager to simplify the process of collecting information we need for your 2013 Assigned Risk Workers’ Comp renewal, a process that has been cumbersome in the past. For starters, we won’t be collecting your municipality’s Form 941. Also, because the Assigned Risk coverage is quite complex, a VLCT staff member might call you to gain a clear understanding of the structure of your fire and rescue services. This will help ensure your coverage is appropriate and your fees are accurate.

In early December, you’ll get an email from Susan Benoit with a form containing last year’s roster and payment information and a letter explaining how to update it and what we need to receive from you at the end of that month. But December is a busy month, so we urge you to prepare in November by making sure that your fire personnel roster is up to date and that the person whom you have designated as your Primary Contact knows the actual role of each volunteer. We need the person who signs the form in December to be sure the information is correct before returning it to us.

If you already have questions, please contact Susan Benoit at sbenoit@vlct.org or 800-649-7915.

YakTrax Group Discounts

After a two-year hiatus, PACIF is again offering the YakTrax® winter footwear group purchasing program – at the same discount (less than half of retail) as in the past! These clever rubber-and-coil contraptions stretch over the soles of winter shoes or boots to improve traction on slippery ice-and-snow-covered surfaces. Any PACIF member municipality that can meet the minimum $100 order requirement can take advantage of this opportunity. Municipalities can either buy them for employees to use while on the job or let employees buy them through the municipality for themselves and their loved ones.

Two models are available. The light duty Yaktrax Walker (left), ideal for pedestrians, is quick to put on and holds on to the toe, heel and sides of the shoe. A pair can retail for $20 but is available through this group purchasing program for $9. The heavy duty Yaktrax Pro (right) has an additional strap over the instep and is a good choice for extended wear and use by laborers and runners. Each Pro pair has a suggested retail price of $30 but is available now for $13.50.

Please place only one order per municipality and provide only one municipal check made out to Implus Footcare LLC to pay for the entire order. Order forms have been distributed to all PACIF members, and a PDF of the form is posted on the VLCT home page, www.vlct.org. Please send your check with a completed order form to VLCT, Attn: Jim Carrien, 89 Main Street, Suite 4, Montpelier, VT 05602-2948, no later than Friday November 9. If you have a question, call Jim at 802-229-9111, ext. 1946.

Health Insurance Renewal for Small Groups

The 2013 VLCT Health Trust Renewal is fast approaching. Members with 50 or more employees will receive direct support and individual quotes for their 1/1/2013 renewal. By now, our members with 49 or fewer employees (small groups) should have received a letter with instructions and information for the January 1 renewal process. These instructions were printed in last month’s VLCT News.

During the Health Trust renewal process, VLCT will not mail rate information to small groups. The quickest way to learn the 2013 small group rates is to visit the Green Mountain Care Board (GMCB) website, http://gmcboard.vermont.gov/rate_review and choose the appropriate carrier at the bottom of the page.

As of press time, the site shows proposed – not approved – rate increases. When you visit the website, read carefully to see which plans’ rates have been approved. You might need to check back in a few days for the latest information.

Blue Cross/Blue Shield members please note: the GMCB will not post rates for AIVIS’s Vermont Freedom Plan, J Plan, Vermont Health Partnership, and Blue CDHP Comp because they are not changing from 2012. However, the AIVIS TVHP (Bluecare) plans are showing proposed rate increases.

By late November, each carrier will mail its proposed 2013 rates and renewal information directly to the groups that were enrolled with it in 2012. Although these rates still might not have received GMCB approval, they can still help you consider your 2013 plan options.

The open enrollment period for EyeMed vision services begins now and runs through mid-December for an effective date of January 1, 2013. The 2013 rates will be the same as for 2012, so benefit administrators can act immediately to check “Update Vision Coverage” off their To Do list.

The VLCT Health Trust offers three vision plans. The “packaged” plan is available only to employees who buy their medical insurance through the Health Trust. Two “voluntary” plans are available to all employees of Health Trust members. Information about each plan, a table comparing them, and necessary forms are located on our Vision page at www.vlct.org. Under the Risk Management Services tab, select Health Trust, then click on Vision Coverage.

Some highlights of these EyeMed plans:

1. Continued access to your current independent provider, whether or not he or she is in EyeMed’s Access network. (VLCT’s Vision webpage has a link to the EyeMed website, where you can view a list of in-network providers in Vermont.)

3. Access to national retail chains such as LensCrafters, Pearle Vision, Target, Sears, and JC Penney.

4. A 40 percent discount on an additional pair of prescription eyewear with no requirement to use the same doctor or order them on the same day as the first pair.

5. Contact lens fitting and follow-up visits no longer come out of the materials benefit.

6. Customer service is available seven days a week.

Members that already offer EyeMed:

1. If your group wants to change the plan you offer to employees, now is the time! Simply email Kelley Avery at kavery@vlct.org by December 14 specifying the new plan in your letter.

2. Please notify your employees that from late November through December 14:
   a. if they aren’t currently on the plan, they may enroll, and
   b. if they are on the plan, they may add or drop dependents without a qualifying event (such as a wedding).

3. Return all forms to Kelley Avery by Monday, December 17, to ensure coverage starting on January 1, 2013. Fax them to 802-229-2211, or scan and email them to kavery@vlct.org.

Members choosing to begin offering EyeMed coverage:

1. Find useful information such as plan descriptions and the EyeMed Administration Guide on the VLCT Vision webpage.

2. Enroll your group’s subscribers using the EyeMed Enrollment/Change Form, available on both our Vision and our Claim Reporting and Insurance Forms webpages.

INSURANCE RENEWAL

Use your VLCT Member Relations Representative to help you consider whether to change your plan or carrier, explore how various funding options would play out in specific scenarios, and make decisions based on your group’s particular needs.

When you have decided whether to keep your current plan or to change your plan or carrier, please follow the instructions that we mailed (and printed in the October newsletter). They boil down to either notifying Kelley Avery if there is no change or submitting new paperwork if there is a change. Ideally, you will be ready to submit all paperwork for plan changes or new group enrollment to Kelley at VLCT by December 1st. However, we understand that you will have received your rates later than usual and might not be ready that soon. If we do not hear from you by December 1, we will contact you by phone or email to at least learn your intentions. Please feel free to call Kelley Avery or any of the Member Relations staff—Larry Smith, Tanya Chambers, or Pam Vandeurzen—at 800-649-7915 if you have any questions.

VISION COVERAGE

3. Have employees sign up by December 14.
4. Fax or email all forms to Kelley Avery before December 17 to ensure coverage starting on January 1, 2013.

We look forward to continuing to provide you and your employees with valuable benefits. For any additional questions regarding EyeMed plans, coverage, or providers, please contact Kelley or your VLCT Member Relations Representative at 800-649-7915.

This change affects the EyeMed enrollment form for new subscribers. To obtain a copy of this form, please either visit our Vision or our Claim Reporting and Insurance Forms web page or ask Kelley Avery (kavery@vlct.org) to email a copy to you. Completed EyeMed forms must now be faxed to EyeMed Membership Services at 513-492-3605 or scanned and emailed to enroll@eyemedvisioncare.com. of which could jeopardize the tax-exempt status of the borrowing, thereby increasing the borrowing costs for the municipality. A number of Vermont municipalities have received and responded to IRS compliance questionnaires. The IRS also has conducted audits related to debt issues of a handful of Vermont school districts and several Vermont Municipal Bond Bank (VMBB) bond series. We are not aware of any adverse findings from the audits or from responses to the compliance questionnaire.

The IRS has indicated that its compliance initiative will continue. In the opinion of many commentators, the program probably will expand. Municipal officials should be aware that their ongoing post-issuance responsibilities will become more important as time goes on and as more Vermont municipalities become the objects of IRS post-issuance scrutiny.

The compliance questionnaire being sent by the IRS to municipal issuers requests information regarding expenditure of bond proceeds, record retention, and private business use of bond-financed improvements. The issuer also is asked whether, as a result of filling out the compliance questionnaire, the issuer is aware of any problems that could “impact” the tax-exempt status of its bonds and notes. The answer to this question could lead directly to an audit. The increasing number and variety of IRS contact questionnaires reinforces the new reality for municipal issuers. The cost of a bond or note issue is no longer the upfront cost of issuance. Issuers should expect, at a minimum, to incur staff costs to implement written post-issuance compliance procedures. From there, an issuer may face costs of responding to an audit request, negotiating a voluntary closing agreement or entering into an audit settlement for matters occurring long after the bonds or notes have been issued or sold. The IRS is serious about issuers accepting a multi-year endeavor to monitor their tax-exempt bonds. Municipalities which have financed recently through the VMBB and U.S. Department of Agriculture were required to adopt post-issuance compliance procedures. Specifically, the Bond Bank has initiated a Post Issuance Compliance (PIC) process with its 2012 Series bonds. The VMBB is assuming a majority of the ongoing responsibility for PIC. Eventually, all municipalities will have to adopt measures to ensure that the proceeds of their bonds and notes are accounted for and are expended in accordance with the arbitrage and private activity bond provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

There are certain activities which a governmental issuer of tax-exempt bonds will be responsible for. These include naming an individual responsible for monitoring local PIC; adopting PIC procedures; certifying that the borrower is in compliance with the terms of the Tax Certificate; certifying that the property financed with bonds is still owned and being used as originally intended; maintaining copies of the loan/bond documents; and that the borrower is aware of the IRS’ remedial action/Voluntary Compliance Agreement Program. The VMBB is planning to present a training session on post issuance compliance later this year. In the meantime, feel free to contact Bob Giroux at the VMBB if you would like additional information on post issuance compliance (802-654-7377, bobg@vtbondagency.org).

Eventually, all municipalities will have to adopt measures to ensure that the proceeds of their bonds and notes are accounted for and are expended in accordance with the arbitrage and private activity bond provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

TRIVIA

Why did Vermont blacksmith Thomas Davenport cut his wife’s wedding dress into strips? June Campbell, Ann Myers, Darlene Johnson, Clyde Jenne, Heidi Racht, Helen McKinlay, Louise Luring, Debby Ogden, Carol Hammond, Cheryl Barker, and Jackie Higgins of Colchester, Essex, Hartford, Hartland, Huntington, Pittsford, Saxtons River, Sutton, Vernon, Weston, and Williamstown, respectively, knew that he needed to insulate the wire windings of his electric motor’s iron core. Brillianté mucho con carne! (Later, Tom stuffed the rest of the shredded dress into some pillowcases that he glued to the top of a bench and called it a “davenport,” true story.)

To commemorate the aid the French gave to the United States during the American Revolution, Michel Guillaume St. Jean de Crèvecoeur (his friends just called him Mr. St. John, or “Buddy”) suggested the names of 18 French persons for Vermont to use as place names. Only three were eventually used. What were they?

Email your best guess to dgunn@vlct.org. The answer will appear willingly and not willy-nilly in the December issue.

visiting with vendors and learning about their products and services while amassing vendor swag, which this year included ballpoint pens, lip balm, sparklers, and stress balls.

This year’s theme – Vermont 2012: after Irene – the Road to Recovery – was evident throughout Town Fair, as three workshops focused exclusively on disaster-related issues while a photomontage of in-state storm damage and recovery played continuously near the entrance to the Fair. More than a year has now passed since the storm leveled parts of the state and emotions are still highly charged. Recovery efforts have not always proceeded according to plan, no matter that municipalities have gone to great lengths to restore homes, property, and the morale of their residents. Last year at this time, many local officials were working out of makeshift offices, still trying to assess damages to their towns and deal with the basic needs of survival. Town Fair 2012 was a great opportunity for them to share their success stories and celebrate how far we all have come.

The highly anticipated session on health care reform played to a standing-room-only audience, and no wonder. With so many changes in the offing that may still be affected by the upcoming state and federal elections, attendees peppered the presenters with plenty of questions. The session was videotaped, and as soon as it’s edited into a more viewer-friendly format, we’ll post it on YouTube and link to the file from our website.

We also recognized some very important Vermonters at the traditionally fabulous turkey luncheon. In recognition of the extraordinary work they did to help towns recover from the damage left by Tropical Storm Irene, VLCT awarded Sen. Alice Nitka and Rep. Patrick Brennan the VLCT Legislative Service Award. Former Town Manager of Middlebury Bill Finger received the Lifetime Achievement Award, which is presented to a municipal official or employee who has dedicated his or her career to serving local government within his or her own community and through service on a statewide level on boards or commissions or VLCT. Gregory Sanford, recently retired Vermont State Archivist, received the Town Government Award, which is presented to a Vermont citizen who is not a local official but who has shown an exceptional awareness of the problems of local government and an active commitment to strengthening local government. Ted Simmons, Chair of the Orwell Selectboard, was recognized for his outstanding six years of service to VLCT as a board member, during which he attended 60 of 61 meetings. And Karen Horn, Directory of Public Policy and Advocacy, was acknowledged for her 25 years of unswerving employmental assistance to VLCT – well, except for those six months when she and her family escaped to New Zealand, but that’s another story. Anyway, many thanks to you all!

Congratulations are also due our Grand Raffle Door Prize Winners: Dale Hackett of Burke, Matt Daskal of Westminster, Tom MacPhee of Rockingham, Flo Ann Dango of Weathersfield, and Dan Lindley of Morristown.

We will again be in Killington for Town Fair 2013, which is scheduled for October 3, and we’re already planning ahead to make sure we have plenty of sun. The space for vendors is more competitive, so a packed house is a near certainty. All of us at VLCT look forward to seeing you there. And remember: It’s not too early to save the date!

HELP WANTED

Town Manager. The Town of Colchester (pop. 17,165) seeks an engaging, collaborative, and dynamic leader to be its Town Manager. Located on Lake Champlain's Malletts Bay, Colchester is the fourth largest municipality in Vermont, has some of the finest recreation opportunities in Vermont and borders the City of Burlington. The Manager reports to a five-member Selectboard and is responsible for the daily operations of the Town. The Manager directly supervises 10 department heads and an assistant manager, administers approximately $14 million in general operating and other funds, and oversees all personnel, financial, public works, public safety, and community relations matters. Erstwhile Human Resources Director Vicki Axtell left to work in Fletcher Allen Hospital’s Employee Labor and Relations Department, paving the way for Jessica Hill to assume the new position of Human Resources and Administration Manager. Jessi’s 17-year tenure at VLCT has included Secretary/Receptionist, Technical Administrator, Conference Coordinator, Manager of Administrative Services, Executive Director of the Green Mountain Water Environment Association, and at least 29 other unofficial titles.

Jessi’s new employmental assignment meant VLCT needed a full-time Conference Coordinator. Enter Lisa Goodell, chosen from a pool of more than 120 applicants, who comes to us from the Vermont Chamber of Commerce, where she served as Communication Coordinator and interim Events Director. And “pool” is indeed an accurate term, as the photograph to the right shows her moments after she successfully pedaled across the Pool of Doom at the entrance to the Strait of Galaxomar on the Isle of Inishmore, County Galway.

The Municipal Assistance Center’s new Research and Information Assistant, Liz Lepore, comes to us – like oh so many others – from New Jersey. She also spent time in Florida flying planes, riding horses, and honing her digital and 35mm photography skills before settling here in 2007. No matter her singular surname, Liz maintains that none of her forebears invented the steering wheel.

Amanda Moshinskie, who started as VLCT’s receptionist in 2007 before progressing through a passel of Finance Department positions, left to take a position with the Institute of Professional Practice. Almost but not quite assuming Amanda’s fiduciary role is Pam Knapp, who departed last year for greener pastures but is now back, having discovered a weed or two amongst those pastures. Pam has been reinvented as Accounting Associate, giving her access to piles of numbers. She also holds the VLCT record for “Highest Percentage of Consonants in a Name.”

Seven-year employmental unit Roxanne Pike was promoted to Senior Production Specialist, meaning she can now tick the “Facilities Maintenance Issues” box in the Things I Do list. And Peggy Gates was promoted to Senior Claims Representative in the Workers’ Compensation Division, which means ... ah, I’m not sure, but it can only be good news for VLCT members.

I think I’m forgetting someone but I can’t recall who. If it’s you and you’re reading this article, please let me know soonest, thanks!
