And VLCT’s New Home Is ...

After a seven-year seemingly quixotic search, VLCT’s future home is right where it has been for the past 17 years. On October 26, 2013, Executive Director Steve Jeffrey executed a new 13-year lease.

Isle County Clerk’s Association and then VMCTA, the Vermont Municipal Clerks’ and Treasurers’ Association, where she attained both Certified Vermont Clerk (CVC) and Certified Vermont Treasurer (CVT) designations. In 2007, her VMCTA colleagues named her Town Clerk of the Year. While Karen has served on many VMCTA committees she has spent most of her time on the Legislative Committee, including as chairperson for several years.

Karen Richard

While on the Legislative Committee, Karen learned about VLCT and how it supports Vermont towns through training sessions and its lobbying presence at the State House during the legislative session. She says that her VLCT contacts have been a valuable resource when questions arise in her daily duties as a local official. They help her to understand legislative changes and how clerk/treasurers have needed to adapt their duties over the years.

Karen is not coming to VLCT with an agenda but rather with an interest in legislation. “VLCT is effective in promoting the best interests of the towns,” she says. “I plan to support VLCT in its policy decisions and hope to garner support for the VMCTA when there is a need.”

She is particularly interested in computerizing land records and other municipal records. When she was elected Clerk/Treasurer in 1998, Colchester had never microfilmed a land record book. So she started a weekly trek to Middlesex with four or five books at a time, but soon realized how inefficient that process was. Today, Colchester has a computerized land record system as well as a microfilm and digital image of every land record book in the town vault. “If we had a natural disaster in our town,” she says, “we could call the land record company and have new books printed from the images. We have come a long way!”

In the process of moving Colchester’s town records into the digital age, it became apparent that the Vermont statutes had not kept pace. So Karen contacted State Archivist Tanya Marshall and the Vermont...

Questions asked by VLCT members and answered by the League’s legal and research staff

Ask the League

Does a Town’s Tax Sale Clear Title of an IRS Lien?

Our town took title to land through a tax sale last year and now hopes to resell the land to the owner of an adjoining property. However, an Internal Revenue Service (IRS) lien was recorded on the property several years before the tax sale. Did the town’s tax sale operate to clear title of the IRS lien or does the IRS lien survive the tax sale process?

Whether the town’s tax sale operated to clear title of the IRS lien depends on whether the IRS filed a notice of lien in the town’s land records more than 30 days prior to the sale and whether the town followed the proper process in notifying the IRS of the sale or obtaining the IRS’s consent to the sale free of its lien. The process for giving the IRS notice and receiving consent is described in IRS publication 786. If the IRS’ notice of lien was recorded in the town land records more than 30 days prior to the sale, the IRS was not given proper notice of the sale, and it did not consent to the sale, then the lien was likely not discharged. 26 U.S.C. § 7425(b)(1)-(2). If there is a question about whether the lien was discharged or the proper process was followed, the town should consult with the attorney who assisted the town in conducting the tax sale.

STAFF CHANGES AT THE MUNICIPAL ASSISTANCE CENTER

Two Municipal Assistance Center staff members have recently accepted tremendous career advancement opportunities: Stephanie Smith, Senior Associate, will be the Chief Policy Enforcement Officer for the Agency for Agriculture, Food and Markets; and Jim Barlow, Senior Staff Attorney, will become the Legal Counsel to the City of South Burlington Manager’s Office.

Stephanie started working at the League in 2007. As a Certified Land Use Planner, she responded to members’ questions regarding municipal officials’ roles and responsibilities generally and conducted training on land use planning and zoning regulations. She reviewed zoning bylaws, assembled the Municipal Calendar, and wrote numerous articles for the VLCT News. Stephanie’s last day at VLCT was October 25th.

Jim Barlow joined VLCT in 2004. During his tenure, he has trained municipal officials on many topics including the Open Meeting Law, the Public Records Act, and conducting effective property tax appeal hearings. He has written amicus briefs, handbooks, model policies and ordinances, as well as Ask the League and Legal and Regulatory Notes newsletter articles. Member officials have frequently sought Jim’s advice on their duties and other matters of Vermont law. November 15th was his last day at the League.

We thank Jim and Stephanie for their valuable service helping municipal officials and wish them well in their new endeavors.

This change in personnel plus our imminent office renovation will in no way keep MAC from providing members with the high level of service they rely on. We have already started recruiting for both positions. And until they are filled, Steve Jeffrey, Karen Horn, and Jonathan Williams will pitch in to help Garrett Baxter (Staff Attorney II) and me respond to your questions.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions at 800-649-7915, extension 1926, or afriedman@vlct.org.

Viewing Pornography on a Municipal Computer and the Privacy Issue

The Vermont Supreme Court has held that any privacy interest in viewing and sending pornography on work computers while on duty at a public law enforcement agency is outweighed by the public’s interest in knowing how the police department supervises its employees and responds to allegations of misconduct. Rutland Herald v. City of Rutland and AFSCME Council 93, Local No. 1201, 2013 VT 98.

At issue were records of Rutland Police Department employees who were investigated and disciplined for viewing and sending pornography on work computers while on duty. Section 317(c)(7) of the Vermont Public Records Act exempts from public disclosure “personal documents relating to an individual, including information in any files maintained to hire, evaluate, promote or discipline any employee of a public agency, information in any files relating to personal finances, medical or psychological facts concerning any individual or corporation.” 1 V.S.A. § 317(c)(7).

The Vermont Supreme Court has previously construed the term “personal documents” in section 317(c)(7) to apply “only to those documents that reveal intimate details of a person’s life, including any information that might subject the person to embarrassment, harassment, disgrace, or loss of employment or friends.” Kade v. Smith, 2006 VT 44, ¶8 (mem.). In determining whether such records must be withheld or disclosed, a court must “balance the public interest in disclosure against the harm to the individual.” Rutland Herald, 2012 VT 26, ¶11. In doing so, it must “consider the significance of the public interest asserted; the nature, gravity, and potential consequences of the invasion of privacy occasioned by the disclosure; and the availability of alternative sources for the requested information.” Kade, 2006 VT 44, ¶14.

Applying this balancing test, the Vermont Supreme Court noted that very little privacy could be attached to viewing pornography on work computers, “[O]ne cannot reasonably expect a high level of privacy in viewing and sending pornography on work computers while on duty at a public law enforcement agency.” On the other hand, the Court found, “there is a significant public interest in knowing how the police department supervises its employees and responds to allegations of misconduct. This is particularly true given the repeated instances of similar misconduct within the police department over a five-year period, as well as the apparent scope of the misconduct.” The balancing of the interests required disclosure of the records.

Lake Champlain Phosphorus TMDL Public Discussions

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), in conjunction with the Vermont Department of Environmental Conservation and the Vermont Agency of Agriculture, Food and Markets, will hold six public meetings in December to discuss the new phosphorus plan under development by the EPA for the Lake Champlain Basin, referred to as a Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL).

The meetings will be moderated by the Lake Champlain Basin Program staff and held around the Lake Champlain Basin. (See schedule below.) All interested persons are encouraged to attend. No pre-registration is required.

Phosphorus runoff and discharges from numerous sources within the Lake Champlain Basin are causing excessive growth of algae in the form of “blooms” in some areas of the lake that turn water murky shades of green, brown, or blue. Some of these algae blooms can be toxic to pets and people. Excessive phosphorus loading also increases the costs of drinking water and wastewater treatment, affects businesses that depend on clean water such as tourism and recreation, and depresses property values. Excessive phosphorus loading can also degrade the water quality of local streams and rivers that feed into Lake Champlain.

The TMDL will place a cap on the maximum amount of phosphorus that can be allowed to enter Lake Champlain and still meet Vermont’s water quality standards. It will allocate that maximum amount to each river basin draining to Lake Champlain and among the various phosphorus sources. Phosphorus sources include discharges from wastewater treatment facilities, runoff from developed lands, runoff from state and municipal road networks, runoff from agricultural lands and timber lands, and streambank erosion stemming from channel instability.

The forms for reporting Auto, Liability, and Property losses are new PDFs to fill in and return electronically. You no longer have to print the blank forms and write all the information by hand (although you still may, if you prefer). Now just type your information into the PDF (tabbing from one field to the next), save the file, and return it as an email attachment using the email link on the form. It’s that simple. You can still print it and either fax or mail it to us if you choose. Just by typing your form, you’ll get fewer calls from us asking for help with reading your handwriting.

Please note: The form for reporting a Workers’ Compensation claim has not changed, so we encourage PACIF members to continue using our easy online WC claim reporting!

PACIF members with fire departments: the first week of December, your primary contact person for Assigned Risk (firefighter) roster and pay information will receive an email from Susan Benoit. (Susan addressed these to the person who was designated in your response to her paper mailing in early October. If she didn’t receive a response, she sent the December email to the person who provided last year’s firefighter roster/pay audit. We ask that this year’s email be forwarded to the person most qualified to provide accurate 2013 firefighter role and pay information, with a copy to Susan so she learns who that person is.)

The December email has thorough instructions for providing us with your 2013 firefighter roster and pay audit. Attached to the email are an Excel file with your 2012 roster/audit and a PDF file showing a sample completed roster. Your primary firefighter roster contact needs to open the Excel file and follow the steps specified in its Instructions worksheet to complete its 2013 Roster worksheet. Completion includes updating the roster and pay information, then scrolling down and filling in the gray section at the bottom of the list. Please keep in mind that the person who signs the roster/audit must be sure that the names, roles, and financial information are all correct and complete before signing and returning the Excel file with the required pay documentation to Susan by the appropriate deadline (see below).

The due date for returning your Assigned Risk roster depends on whether your fire personnel are paid.

• Friday, December 27, 2013, for all-volunteer departments (i.e., no one receives pay of any kind).

• Monday, January 6, 2014, for departments that have any personnel who receive pay, regardless of whether it is per-call, per-training, a stipend, or wages.

Please take special note: We need to receive this information in time to calculate the Assigned Risk component of your 2014 workers’ compensation coverage.

If you don’t provide your 2013 information by the correct deadline, we’ll calculate this contribution as a default ten percent increase over your 2012 fire personnel payroll, and a billing adjustment might be necessary in 2014.

Please direct any questions about all this to Susan Benoit at sbenoit@vlct.org or 1-800-649-7915. After reviewing your roster, Susan will contact you if we require any additional information.
PACIF Jeopardy!

A & Q, Part 1: General Liability

From now through April, you can test your knowledge of municipal property, casualty, and workers’ compensation coverage right here in the VLCT News, thanks to the PACIF Jeopardy! game that VLCT’s Loss Control and Claims staff members devised for Town Fair 2013.

In true Jeopardy! fashion, this is an A&Q instead of a Q&A: the board shows the answers, and contestants must supply the questions. The answers are in the far right box. When you think you know the questions, turn to page 13 (PACIF Jeopardy!, continued) to see if you’re correct. There you’ll also find a brief (but enlightening) explanation of each question.

We’ll begin with the General Liability category.

Karen has been married to her husband Ed for 40 years. She has two grown daughters and five grandchildren. In her spare time, she loves to quilt – some of her creations are on display in the Town Office and at the Colchester Meeting House (see photo on page 2).

We’re confident that Karen’s lifelong dedication to local government will likewise be on display during her tenure on the VLCT Board of Directors. Zapraszamy, Karen!
Elsewhere in this newsletter, you’ll learn of two departures from the Municipal Assistance Center. Well, VLCT’s ranks are being depleted by yet another employmental unit. Retiring from the workaday world to a life of leisure* is Pat Boyle, who began her stint at VLCT in the summer of ’97 (no relation to “The Summer of ’42”). In 2004, she became a Claims Representative in the Workers’ Compensation Section and has been there ever since. Throughout her tenure, she’s also been known as Donna favolosa trapunta, or Fabulous Quilt Woman. We wish Pat as well as our two other erstwhile staffers the best. No really, we do!

a new lease with Doug Nedde, the new owner of City Center on the corner of State and Main streets in beautiful downtown Montpelier. The lease, which secures VLCT office space through December 31, 2026, was approved by the VLCT Board of Directors at its August meeting, subject to negotiations over the final details. The lease calls for a slightly different footprint within the building and total gutting and reconstruction of the space, with demolition slated to begin in late November and the new space ready to be put into service by VLCT staff in late February. The total square footage is similar to our current space, but much of the area will be converted from numerous, tiny private offices to more open workspace with more meeting spaces.

The successful lease negotiation concludes a search that had two unsuccessful attempts end in ninth inning losses. In 2009, VLCT had negotiated a purchase of the Montpelier Elks Club building (located on the outskirts of Montpelier off Route 2) only to have the Elks membership vote to retain ownership. VLCT last renewed its lease in City Center in early 2012 after plans to move to another building close to downtown Montpelier fell through due to the current tenants needing more time to vacate the premise than VLCT could manage. The expiring lease with the previous owner of City Center was renewed at that point under very favorable conditions to VLCT. The new lease — including the costs of renovations — does increase VLCT’s costs over its life, but they are phased in over time.

VLCT first moved to City Center on April Fool’s Day in 1997 with 25 staff members. With the expansion of PACIF coverage and the growth in Municipal Assistance Center services, VLCT kept growing, peaking in 2008 at just over 50 full-time equivalent (FTE) staffers. Over the same period, VLCT’s footprint grew from 10,025 “usable” square feet of office space to 12,700, keeping pace with its staffing. Our growth spurt seems to be over as we have settled in at 48 FTEs and appear to be in for a period of static size. The new office space measures 14,700 “gross” square feet, with much of the difference in the two definitions of space explained by walls and other “unusable” space. We hope the new space won’t remain “gross” for long as it will feature higher ceilings, new lighting and carpets, fewer walls and hallways, and more access to the limited amount of natural light available for an office space located almost entirely under a two-story parking garage.

VLCT has had many homes since its creation in 1967. It was first located in donated space on the University of Vermont campus... (continued on next page) at 475 Main Street in Burlington. Montpelier has been homeport since its move in 1970 to 27 Langdon Street. It then had stints at 118 Main Street (where the front door of the offices over the Lobster Pot restaurant proclaimed VLCT as “The Embassy of Local Government”) and 52 State Street, before it bought its one and only office building at 12 1/2 Main Street. Unfortunately, that purchase, made when VLCT had six staff members, coincided with the explosive growth of PACIF membership and our staff quadrupled in the following nine years. We quickly outgrew that “permanent” home before moving to City Center, and the rest, as they say, is history.

Please bear with us during the next three months as we evacuate our old offices, move to temporary swing space located in the building (right next to the construction site), and then back into the finished product. We will try our hardest to continue to provide high quality service undeterred by the disruption.

Want Dental for CY 2014? Explore VLCT’s Options

VLCT members that don’t currently offer dental insurance to employees might be interested to know that they can obtain Northeast Delta Dental (Delta) coverage for the 2014 calendar year through the VLCT Health Trust. Delta’s plans usually cover from July 1 to June 30, yet calendar-year coverage is an option, and it might be a perfect fit now for your municipality’s needs.

How does this compare to the alternatives? The health insurance plans offered on Vermont Health Connect (VHC, a.k.a the Exchange) do not include any dental coverage for adults, and the pediatric dental that they offer is less comprehensive than what the VLCT dental program offers. Groups and individuals can buy Delta plans on the Exchange separately from health insurance. However, the plans that your Health Trust offers are more affordable and more comprehensive than the ones on the Exchange, thanks to our long-term relationship with Delta.

TRIVIA

Last month’s query (On Wednesday, August 3, 1927, the image of a man dressed in buckskin and leaning on a rifle appeared in Bennington, Vermont. Why?) drew a correct response (It was the image on Vermont’s commemorative 2¢ postage stamp, which was first placed on sale on that date in Bennington and Washington, D.C.) from Marianne Blake, Louise Luring, John Weir, Heidi Racht, and Earl LaBatt of Windsor, Saxtons River, Moretown, Huntington, and Arlington, respectively. Nicely reasoned, folks!

Because cooler autumnal zephyrs have begun to influence our thermostatic settings, I figured now would be a good time to look ahead to more clement weather – say, next June! Ergo: A West Colbyville weigher of coal is fishing in Joe’s Pond on June 7 – one day before Vermont’s largemouth bass season opens, but that’s another story. Anyway, the fellow reels in a 15-inch long bass. Its head is as long as its tail. If its head were twice as long, the combined head and tail would be as long as the fish’s body. How long is each portion of the fish?

Once you have sussed the answer, with or without a piscine slide rule, email it posthaste* to dgunn@vlct.org. Then bide your time ’til the icicle-enhanced January issue reveals the answer.

* One attentive trivialist answered last month’s query a mere 16 minutes after the newsletter was posted!
The Town of Morristown is seeking sealed bids for the manufacture and delivery of a three-cubic yard combination jetter/vacuum pipeline cleaner trailer. You may examine the contract documents at the town offices (Town of Morristown, 43 Portland Street, Morristown, VT 05661), or we will email them to you upon request. The deadline to receive bids is Monday, December 2, 2013. Bids will be publicly opened and read aloud at 2 p.m. on that day. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Town for the total amount of the bid. A bid bond may be used in lieu of a certified check. The award will be to the lowest responsive and responsible bidder. PROTECTING YOUR INCREASINGLY INSECURE DATA - DECEMBER 11, 2013

WHO SHOULD ATTEND AND WHY

Is your electronic data secure? How can you be sure? Every function in municipal and school governance has data stored on a computer somewhere, either at the town office or in the “cloud” or even on a laptop a telecommuting employee takes home. Now, more than ever, this information is at risk. Come hear experts from banking, academia, and business describe threats to your technology and data and discuss how to make your computer systems and business practices more secure. This workshop is for municipal and school officials who use and manage computer systems, including administrators, managers, clerks, treasurers, and their assistants. School board and selectboard members are also encouraged to attend.
