

Rutland County Solid Waste District
Waste Reduction Program Manager

Position Summary:

The Rutland County Solid Waste District (RCSWD) seeks a passionate and highly organized self-starter with exceptional planning, project management, and communications skills to serve as RCSWD's Program Manager. This position will work closely with the outreach coordinator to coordinate all phases of assigned programs in areas such as community and business materials management, education and community outreach, research, grant management, and technical assistance. This is a full-time, salary position based in our office in Rutland, Vermont.

We support best management practices for solid waste management and resource recovery in communities; build capacity in the recycling and composting industries; advocate for better policies; and provide technical assistance to individuals, businesses, educational institutions, and 17 regional municipal town stakeholders.

Job Responsibilities:

- Research, develop, and implement programs designed to help communities achieve waste management and waste diversion best practices and goals.
- Prepare educational and informational materials such as planning reports, grant reports, guides, fact sheets, and website/social media content.
- Organize, promote, and facilitate educational and informational meetings for programs.
- Collaborate with a range of stakeholders to provide assistance, recommendations, and evaluation of recycling and waste management programs.
- Maintain records of project development to write and prepare grant reports.
- Participate in organizational meetings, events, and administrative functions of NRC, performing various duties as assigned that support the organization.
- Perform program services such as waste audits, waste reviews, and community consultation services.
- Assume responsibility of coordinating new programs and services as they are developed.
- Participate in defining project and program goals, and develop reporting procedures to monitor, evaluate, and review effectiveness in achieving goals and objectives.

The ideal candidate will be a creative problem-solver motivated to create solutions for maximizing the benefits of resource recovery. This role requires excellent communication skills and the ability to convey complex ideas into clear and compelling reports, articles, proposals, and presentations; and an ability to lead with a passion for working collaboratively with State agencies, and people from all walks of life to promote waste reduction and sustainability.

Qualifications & Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in environmental sciences, natural resources, public administration, or a related field preferred; 4 years of equivalent work experience related to sustainability and/or recycling and solid waste programs may be substituted.
- Four years' experience supervising staff.

- Experience in policy developing, coordinating and implementing programs required. Also, working knowledge of budget preparation as it relates to programs and their financial impacts.
- Highly organized with the ability to handle multiple projects and priorities while coordinating workflow in a deadline-driven and solution-focused environment.
- Exceptional communication skills, both written and verbal.
- Ability to work well alone as a self-starter who takes initiative, and collaboratively in a team environment.
- Demonstrated commitment to sustainability and environmental issues. Preference for experience in waste reduction and recycling programs.

Essential Requirements:

- Valid Driver's License
- Ability to lift and carry at least 40 pounds
- Ability to operate, or ability to learn to operate a, loader and excavator.
- Travel and overnight stays are required occasionally to work directly with community partners, attend trainings, and for conferences.
- Full working knowledge of Microsoft Word, Excel and PowerPoint, social media platforms, and Google Docs.

Total Compensation Package:

Benefits: RCSWD offers medical, vision, and life insurance; retirement benefits after one full year of employment; paid vacation, holidays, and flextime; continuous learning opportunities with trainings and conferences; and a great work-life balance!
